

Joint health is a complex issue that requires a complex approach for maximum results. This is precisely why we offer the most comprehensive formula available to address total joint health.

Many of you are likely familiar with most of these ingredients so we will only take the time to elaborate on a couple of them.

Active Ingredients

Our key ingredient is CM8® (Cetyl Myristoleate), which is an ester of a fatty acid. Discovered in the early 1960s by Dr. Harry Diehl (pronounced DEEL), Cetyl Myristoleate is a powerful lubricant as well as an anti-inflammatory agent. Lubrication of the joints is essential to reduce wear and tear, to provide short term relief, and to prevent further damage from occurring. Additionally, inflammation must be brought under control to allow the supporting ingredients in Flexcin to penetrate the joint and promote long term joint health.

In order to bring short term relief as well as long term joint support, we combine: CM8, Glucosamine Sulfate Potassium, MSM, Hydrolyzed Collagen Type II & Bromelain

Perhaps the most important ingredient in Flexcin, although it doesn't directly affect the joints, is our Digestive Enzyme Blend because it aids in the digestion and enhances the bio-availability of the combination of ingredients found in Flexcin's formula. Flexcin with CM8® is the only joint care formula available that contains a digestive enzyme.

Dosage

Each bottle contains 90 capsules and is a 30 day supply when taken as directed: one capsule, three times per day. Severe cases may benefit from a double dose for a period of two to four weeks. Also known as a "Load Up" phase.

Timeline for Results

Most people feel positive results in about 3 to 6 weeks. However, we do have reports of users feeling results much sooner, while others may need a little more time to allow our formula to build up in their joints. Keep this in mind and communicate with your customer that they may not be 100% in 3 to 6 weeks, but they will certainly feel enough of a positive result to know that Flexcin is working.

Return Policy

Our return policy is rather straightforward. Your customer is subject to your store's return policy. However, we will honor returns by replacing the product free of charge. We request that you not hold a customer to a strict 30 day policy but that you allow them the benefit of consuming one full bottle. In the event that you honor a return, simply call, fax or email us and we will have a replacement sent out right away.
